

You're invited:

Society of Midland Authors Meeting

When: Tuesday, Sept. 11, 2018. Panel discussion at 6:00 p.m.

Where: Harold Washington Library, 400 S. State St. (Cindy Pritzker Auditorium)

The long and the short of Short story writing

 Lynn Sloan's This Far Isn't Far Enough features 14 powerful, diverse short stories about people on the edge and ready "to leap." This includes a once-successful cook seeking a comeback with a popup restaurant; a failed actor assessing his life; a mother trying to connect with her estranged son; and a naive WWII army grunt trapped in a no-win battle with his superiors. Affecting and memorable, this collection demonstrates Lynn Sloan's penetrating understanding of loss, endurance and the undefeated spirit.

 Marius Stan is a scientist, author and actor, currently a Senior Scientist at Argonne National Laboratory and University of Chicago. His Câteva Zile ("A Few Days", published in Romanian) is a collection of short stories that capture the drama behind apparently trivial events: a birthday party, a meeting in the park or a bike tour. He is working on another collection of short stories in English. Stan is best known for playing carwash owner Bogdan in the hit TV series "Breaking Bad."

 Maryse Meijer's Heartbreaker features 13 edgy stories that cut sharp, deep and unforgiving. Her characters are a strange ensemble—including a feral child, a girl raised from the dead, a possible pedophile—who share in vulnerability and heartache, but maintain an unremitting will to survive. Meijer deals in desire and sex, femininity and masculinity, family and girlhood, while crafting a landscape of appetites threatening to self-destruct. Her writing is unflinching, exciting and ambitious.

Free, open to the public. All welcome!

For more information, contact Greg Borzo: (312) 636-8968; greg@gregborzo.com